2000 NATIONWIDE PERSONAL TRANSPORTATION SURVEY

Complete one line (#1, #2, #3, etc) for each time you travel from one place to another on your travel day.

- ! Remember to record each return trip to home to work.
- ! Be specific. Record each place you went on a separate line, even if you stopped several places on one journey.
- ! Record each time you change your means of transportation as a separate trip. For example, driving a vehicle to a subway station and then taking the subway to work should be recorded as two separate trips.
- ! Record bicycle and walking trips that were 5 minutes or longer.
- ! Remember to record each return trip to home to work.
- ! The first trip should be the first place you went after 4 a.m on your assigned travel day.
- ! The last trip should be to your home, or to wherever you ended the day at 3:59 a.m. of the next day.

REMEMBER to have this travel diary close by when the interviewer calls to collect this information. Thanks!

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR HOUSEHOLDS WITH YOUNG CHILDREN

For households with young children please follow these guidelines:

- ! Children who are old enough to read and write may enjoy completing their own travel diary. With help from an adult household member it is perfectly acceptable for these children to complete their own diaries.
- ! For children who are not able to complete their own travel diaries, we ask that an adult household member who is knowledgeable about the child's activities complete the diary.
- ! Household members who report for children should use their best judgment to answer the detailed questions about trips made by the child.
- ! Remember to include trips made by the child which do not include other members of the household. Examples include: riding the bus or walking to school, class trips, traveling to after-school activities, biking or walking to visit friends, and trips made with someone outside the household.
